Lynn Bernard on "Surprises and Coincidences: A Survey of Religious Architecture"

Some of the world's most impressive architectural works are houses of worship. This presentation reviews half a century of travel across three continents, four American states and Washington, DC, and nine countries. It examines ten belief systems that motivated societies and architects to build homes for deities, or to inspire divine states of consciousness. It cross-culturally investigates two and a half millennia of architectural and engineering advances, and respectfully assesses beauty as an evangelical tool.

John George on "Hans Christian Andersen: Life and Legacy"

Hans Christian Andersen (1805-1875) was born on the Danish island of Funen to a 22-year-old cobbler and his washerwoman wife. At the age of 14, He precipitously left for Copenhagen in search of Signor Siboni, singing master of the Royal Copenhagen Theatre. His encounter with Siboni also attracted patrons, including the king. After some formal education, he began publishing evocative poetry and fantastic stories, which when translated into French and German, established him in the romantic literary movement. Hans Christian Andersen's original approach to fairytales propelled him to both social and artistic heights. His legacy endures in the forms of an international prize, movies, music, dance, and continued publication.
